Saeid Rad is the director of quality, food safety, customer care and supplier approval for fgf Canada.

When Saeid completed his Bachelor’s degree in animal science approximately 30 years ago, he began working in food manufacturing and discovered a passion for working with food.

Since then, he has been working primarily in food manufacturing companies, in high-risk categories like egg and dairy. For the past 11 years he has been with in one the largest bakeries in north America (fgfbrands). Working on three different continents has contributed to his learning and has given him the opportunity to see many different angles of quality and food safety .

Saeid has a passion for continuous improvement and thirst for knowledge, which has pushed him to continue learning throughout every stage of his life and career.

An interesting fact about Saeid is that he is a very active person who either works or works out (probably that’s why I like to work in food manufacturing)
